

RACHEL COOKE

SPEAKER. FOUNDER. TALENT ACTIVATOR.

ABOUT RACHEL

The Founder of Lead Above Noise, Rachel Cooke was named one of Inc. Magazines Top 100 Leadership Speakers of 2018. Rachel believes to her core that great organizations are grounded in great leadership.

And it is her personal mission to partner with companies that believe the same, recognizing that the role of leadership is not to do great work, but rather to inspire and empower it in others, creating leverage that delivers results.

With a Bachelors Degree in Human Development from Cornell University and a Masters Degree in Organizational Psychology from Columbia University, Rachel's academic and corporate experience have positioned her to inspire and empower teams and leaders across industries.

SIGNATURE PROGRAMS

Unleash the Power of SuperCandor

Speed to market, agility, innovation, and risk mitigation are essential to success. Yet they thrive only in organizations that invite talent at all levels to have a voice. Because often, the most powerful ideas and insights live at the bottom of an org chart. The key to unlocking and harnessing this wisdom is SuperCandor, and this program provides leaders with the inspiration and roadmap to do precisely that.

Drive Better Business Through Balance

Overwork, overwhelm, and mantras of "do more with less" plague teams in every industry today. And yet we know that 20% of the work yields 80% of the results. In this program, leaders are delivered a business case for making balance a necessity - not a luxury - and the five-part framework empowering them to reduce the noise, and bring sanity, alignment, and that critical 20% to the forefront.

Activate an Impactful Employee Experience

Research tells us the #1 driver of an employee's experience is the relationship with one's direct leader. So why are so many organizations touting free food and culture changes due to materialize in three years? Leaders at every level have the power to meaningfully impact the employee experience. Now. In this program, leaders gain the insight, the inspiration, and the simple strategies they can implement to craft an experience designed to retain and develop their most valued talent.

In addition to her signature offerings, Rachel is always happy to tailor a program to the objectives of any audience. Reach out today to learn more.
